Subject: Equal Treatment

To whom it may concern;

The Microsoft case is the first time that I have heard of a defendant being found guilty, and the guilty verdict being upheld by appellate courts, where the guilty defendant was given the opportunity to negotiate the punishment. The negotiations resulted in a compromise and a reduced penalty. Should I ever be found guilty of anything I will surely demand my right to equal treatment under the law, and demand a compromise which reduces my punishment.

Thank you for your concern and the opportunity to refuse to comply with any punishment imposed.
